

Leave Policy

Employees are entitled to twelve days of casual leave and fifteen days of earned leave per calendar year. Casual leave must be availed within the same calendar year and cannot be carried forward; any unused casual leave lapses at year end. Earned leave, however, may be carried forward to the following calendar year up to a maximum of thirty accumulated days. Employees must submit leave requests to their manager through the HR portal at least two working days in advance, except in cases of medical emergency.

Dress Code

Employees are expected to dress in business casual attire during regular office hours, including collared shirts, closed-toe shoes, and neat, professional clothing. On Fridays, employees may wear smart casual attire, including jeans and sneakers, provided clothing remains neat and appropriate for the workplace. Formal business attire, including suits or equivalent professional wear, is required whenever an employee is attending an in-person or video client meeting, regardless of the day of the week. Employees are expected to exercise good judgment in maintaining a professional appearance at all times.

Travel and Reimbursement

Employees traveling for business purposes may claim reimbursement for economy-class airfare, hotel accommodation, and reasonable meal expenses incurred during the trip. All reimbursement claims must be submitted through the expense portal within fourteen days of the employee's return from travel, along with original receipts. Alcohol expenses are not reimbursable under any circumstances, even when incurred during a business dinner with clients. Claims submitted after the fourteen-day window may be rejected at the discretion of the finance department.

Notice Period

Employees resigning from their position are required to serve a notice period of sixty days for managerial roles and thirty days for all other regular employees. The notice period begins on the date the resignation letter is formally accepted by HR. If an employee does not serve the full notice period, the company will deduct an amount equal to the employee's basic salary for the number of days short from the employee's final settlement, in lieu of notice. Exceptions may be granted at management's discretion on a case-by-case basis.

Code of Conduct

All employees are expected to maintain a professional and respectful workplace free from harassment, discrimination, and retaliation of any kind. Any employee who experiences or witnesses workplace harassment should report the incident to their HR business partner or the designated Internal Complaints Committee as soon as possible. The company maintains a strict zero-tolerance policy toward harassment of any form, and all reported incidents will be investigated promptly and confidentially.
